Hear our Management Associates share about their experiences in Singtel!

"I love being in the thick of action – being made to think and respond quickly. In a world where content is king, we are constantly thinking of innovative ways to bring curated content to our customers. I like knowing that the work I do has an impact on so many people, and how I never have a typical day – everything moves at breakneck speed and it is both mentally as well as emotionally stimulating."

- Lee Keat Li, MAP 2016
Business Planning Manager,
Consumer SG
Masters in Management, Imperial
College London
Bachelor of Economics, Newcastle
University

"I love being a digital strategist where my cognitive thinking as well as quantitative skills are challenged to the limits on interesting projects across numerous verticals such as digital marketing, internet of things and cyber security."

- Leon Yap, MAP 2014
Manager, Group Strategy
Masters of Philosophy (Finance and Economics), University of Cambridge

"Within Enterprise Security, the team and I were heavily involved in the launch of Singtel's Cyber Security Institute. This institute can emulate the environments and operations of enterprises using state-of-the-art technologies. Though it was a very challenging project, there was a great sense of achievement that made it well worth the effort."

- Koh Lin Xin, MAP 2015
Business Analyst, Group Enterprise
Masters of Engineering in Electronic and Information Engineering, Imperial College London
